

Intermediate Front End Developer

Are you interested in joining a fast-growing tech company with a flexible, modern approach to the workplace? Have 3-5 years of experience building Vue.js applications?

Our product, Cirro, is a flight operations management software system. Essentially, we're an Electronic Flight Bag customized for flight operations managers and their entire fleets, used for all aspects of flight planning, scheduling, compliance, and safety. Most helicopter companies across Canada are currently flying with Cirro, which has led to our expansion at our head office here in Thunder Bay.

The Job

You'll work closely with our team of developers, customer technical support and quality assurance to fix issues, improve performance, build new features and port our old jQuery interface to Vue.js.

To be considered for this position, please demonstrate that you:

- are legally allowed to work full-time in Canada;
- work expertly in Vue.js 2.x;
- know how to work with Vuex.
- have a working knowledge of GIT SCM;
- give and take constructive criticism graciously;
- are confident making suggestions to evolve our technology and design, and;
- are a skilled interface designer and quick at building mock-ups based on amateur descriptions.

We prefer applicants with:

- experience working with jQuery;
- experience working with Laravel, PHP, and MySQL;
- show aptitude for graphic design in their application document and/or attach a portfolio, and;
- language knowledge other than English;
- are willing to move to, or who presently reside in Thunder Bay, Ontario.

The Tech

You will be working with CSS, HTML, SASS, Vue.js and a fair bit of jQuery on the client side. Some tasks may also require you to write some PHP. We're not settled on any graphic design software, so whether you prefer to work with open-source software, Adobe Creative Suite or the Affinity Collection, what's most important is that you're proficient and comfortable with your tool of choice.

Your Benefits

- Salary ranging between 70k-90k to commensurate with your skill and experience level.
- 35h per week.
- Health plan with 80% coverage on Medical, Dental and Vision.
- 20 days of paid vacation per year.

Work Environment

We're a fast-growing tech company, with a head office in Thunder Bay. As an equal-opportunity employer, we're convinced that diverse teams build better products.

We're committed to the prosperity of our northern community which is why we give preference to local applicants first, but we are equally committed to a remote work model. As such, we will incentivize successful applicants to move to (or stay in) Thunder Bay, Ontario.

AirSuite has a centrally located office at 1205 Amber Drive in Thunder Bay for in-person meetings and those who prefer in-office or hybrid work opportunities.

To apply, please complete the questionnaire here by 4:30 p.m., December 6, 2022. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.
